Fastest Woman in the World on a Motorcycle teams with North American Eagle™ Racing to set new world record

Leslie Porterfield, the Guinness Book of World Records and multiple land speed record holder just announced that she will pilot the North American Eagle™ for a new record this fall. This will be in addition to her motorcycle land speed racing.

Ed Shadle and his North American Eagle™ teammates have welcomed the new driver that has fashion model looks and nerves of titanium to their stable where Leslie will soon become the world's fastest female racecar driver.

"I couldn't be more excited to be a part of such a dynamic team. I am honored to be part of their mission to go after the absolute unlimited land speed record. This is an opportunity of a lifetime!" Ms. Porterfield states.
